

How are Australia's blue chip companies using technology to Drive Workplace Safety?

Industry trends you need to know about.

Companies like Ford, Mirvac, Kraft, Lend Lease, Amcor and more are using "smart software" to drive workplace safety.

SIA and SISA members are invited to take an in-depth look at how these companies are changing the face of safety, the software functionality they're using to do it and the success stories they're enjoying.

Seminar Agenda

- A demonstration of how technology can improve workplace safety, not just processes.
 - How can software change management practices to improve workplace safety?
 - How can software improve company-wide safety culture?
- An invitation for SIA and SISA members to offer expert advice and industry insight.

Date: Friday 13th of August, 2010

Breakfast: 7:30 to 8:15

Seminar: 8:15 to 9:30

Venue: The Sebel Playford Adelaide, 120 North Terrace

Presenters: Frank Templeton, Mike Duffield, Jason Nikolas

Case Studies: Cement Australia, Kraft Foods and Ford

Numbers are strictly limited. To avoid disappointment, please register early on the SIA website; <http://www.sia.org.au/surveys/default.asp> presented by:

SIA acknowledges software can be a very useful part of an OHS Management system, but do not endorse one product over another.

sponsored by:

Free Seminar
Gourmet Breakfast